Apostolic Trip of His Holiness Francis in Mozambique, Madagascar and Mauritius (4 to 10 September 2019) – Prayer for the workers in the Mahatazana worksite

Prayer for the workers in the Mahatazana worksite

After concluding the visit to the City of Friendship, Pope Francis transferred to the worksite of Mahatazana for a moment of prayer with the workers.

Upon arrival, at 16.00 local time (15.00 in Rome), the Pope was received by two workers near the monument to the Sacred Heart of Jesus. After a hymn and a greeting from a female worker, the Holy Father recited the Prayer for Workers. He then imparted his apostolic blessing, followed by the final hymn.

At the end, after the blessing and the final hymn, before getting into the popemobile, the Holy Father greeted three Muslim leaders, three workers and twenty benefactors, and transferred to the Collège de Saint Michel for the meeting with priests, men and women religious, consecrated persons and seminarians:

The following is the Holy Father's prayer for workers:

Prayer of the Holy Father

God our Father, Creator of heaven and earth, we thank you for gathering us as brothers and sisters in this place.
Before this rock, split by human labour,
we pray to you for workers everywhere.

We pray for those who work with their hands
and with immense physical effort:
soothe their wearied frames,

that they may tenderly caress their children
and join in their games.
Grant them unfailing spiritual strength and physical health,
lest they succumb beneath the burden of their labours.

Grant that the fruits of their work
may ensure a dignified life to their families.
May they come home at night to warmth, comfort and encouragement and together, under your gaze, find true joy.

May our families know that the joy of earning our daily bread becomes perfect when that bread is shared.
May our children not be forced to work,
but receive schooling and continue their studies,
and may their teachers devote themselves fully to their task,
without needing other work to make a decent living.

God of justice, touch the hearts of owners and managers.
May they make every effort to ensure that workers receive a just wage and enjoy conditions respectful of their human dignity.

Father, in your mercy, take pity on those who lack work.
May unemployment - the cause of such great misery –
disappear from our societies.
May all know the joy and dignity of earning their daily bread,
and bringing it home to support their loved ones.

Father, create among workers a spirit of authentic solidarity.
May they learn to be attentive to one another,
To encourage one another, to support those in difficulty
and to lift up those who have fallen.

Let their hearts not yield to hatred, resentment
or bitterness in the face of injustice.
May they keep alive their hope for a better world, and work to that end.

Together, may they constructively defend their rights.
Grant that their voices and demands may be heard.

God our Father, you have made Saint Joseph, foster father of Jesus and courageous spouse of the Virgin Mary,
protector of workers throughout the world.
To him I entrust all those who labour here, at Akamasoa,
and all the workers of Madagascar,
especially those experiencing uncertainty and hardship.
May he keep them in the love of your Son and sustain them in their livelihood and in their hope.
Amen.
